where's my limit? – where is my drive?
where's all energy i once had inside?
where's my spirit? – where is my pride?
where are my two egos? –
where do they collide?

sometimes i'm breaking down –
don't know where to start sometimes i feel i cannot breath
i cannot eat anymore
who says?
who says?
sometimes when i get up –
don't know how to stand sometimes i feel i live two lives
but i am walking behind

you say – who says?
you say – who says?
who says – there is no –
there is no chance to split?
who says – there's no way –
that i could fit?

you are, you are a confused dancing star,
moving fast through the night
so far so far, the night's getting bizarre, turn around to the light

so tell me why – tell me why – why i am feelin pretty fine here
on the dance floor
so tell me why – tell me why – i feel so good – it feels so right here on the dance floor

my feelings drive me into two different directions sometimes i crash – i crash – sometimes i'm crashing into myself
you say – who says
you say – who says

catchin me catching me out on the ridge
catchin me catching me out on the ridge
catchin me catching me out on the ridge
... for da lifetime – for da lifetime

you come back down, you come back down – to earth with a bang – your time's running out but don't lose heart! don't lose yourself and stand up! stand up! – come on and get up!

is there no other place where i can settle down – down?
i need more space – more space –
where i can jump around so tell me how – tell me how – i can make myself a brand-new polished dance floor
